

Chabad at CU's

Linking Hearts

A program for children with special needs

For children & teenagers with mental, physical and/or functional disability or handicap.

HOME HEARTS: College students and young adults visit participating children in their homes, providing true friendship, an opportunity to have fun, learn about their Jewish heritage, and create a heart to heart connection between the volunteer and child.

HOLIDAY HEARTS: Special programs during the Jewish holidays allow Linking Hearts families to come together & enjoy hands-on celebrations of the holidays.

If you would like to support this project, know of a family that can benefit from Linking Hearts, students or young adults that would like to volunteer, or for more information, please contact Leah Wilhelm at leah@jewishcu.com • 303-444-2775

Linking Hearts connects children with special needs, student volunteers, families, and supporters, filling a void, creating long lasting friendships, and making a difference, one heart at a time.